

Emcee Introduction for DAVID PENGLASE

Note... Penglase is pronounced Pen – Glays
(rhymes with 'days')

I'd now like to introduce David Penglase

David is a behavioural scientist and author who has for over three decades been helping leaders and their teams, in top tier organisations, tap into the science of intention and trust to develop stronger relationships and achieve success in sales and service, and across the business.

As a behavioural scientist, David has degrees in business and human resource development. He has an MBA, a Master degree in Professional Ethics, and a Master of Science Degree in Applied Positive Psychology.

On a more personal note, David is a keen fisherman..... one of the few people that takes his four wheel drive off the city streets..... And he is the former singer and guitarist in the totally unknown country rock band 'The Black Knights'.

He is a father of two..... and a husband of one.

Could you please join me and welcome David.